Corpses Number Sixty-four.

EW YORK, Dec. 24.- [Exclusive Dispatch.] Prof. R. J. George of Allegheny, principal of the Reformed Presbyterian Seminary, one of the survivors of the Baltimore and Ohio wreck last night, arrived here today, and tells his story of it.

"All the horrors of hell can only be likened to last night," he said. Fortunate were we who rode in sleepers, but God help the others. You cannot conceive of the horrors I saw, Every poor fellow in that steaming faces and arms through the broken windows was frightneeded in that car. When we drew their bodies out, they were so completely boiled that the flesh fell from their bones.

"One of the horrors of the scene was the effect on those who had inhaled steam. Death did not come instantly. They ran from the scene speechless, pointing piteously to their mouths for water; ran on again, and were afterward found dead in the bushes." Henry A. Clark, another survivor, gives this account of the accident happened," said Clark. "The train was making about forty miles an hour. The crash came without a second's warning. There was no sudden smashing on of airbrakes or a warning shriek from was no sudden smashing on of airbrakes or a warning shriek from the locomotive whistle. The scene at the wreck is awful.

Cars are piled one upon another, lying sidewise and at angles, where only the earth supports them, while trucks are piled upon the banks and scattered among the bushes as though thrown by a giant hand. Fully two hundred yards from the point of contact with the obstrction the engine lies, a wreck. Almost one hundred yards beyond is the forward baggage-car, lying on the slope of a bank. slope of a bank.

The train, speeding through the dark-ness at sixty miles an hour, dashed around a curve, headleng into a pile of large timbers. Leaving the rails, the train plunged ahead over the ties until the rails were ripped up and the engine fell over. The rest of the train dashed on, the two baggage-cars finally leav-ing the right of way and plunging down over a bank. The first passer ger car, a smoker, pushed past the en-gine and tilted over toward it at the same time. This car was filled with passengers, and all were killed.

Singularly, in such an awful crash, most of the fatalities were caused by scalding steam. A story of courage and heroism seldom equaled is told of Benjamin Nichols, steward on the din-ing-car. When the terrible slide of the engine dragged the train whirling side-ways along the road, Nichols was in the dining-car. After being tossed about for a time, he made his escape from the car and ran toward the smoker, which had been reduced to a mass of wreckage. The crash had torn the escape vaive from the top of the engine, and the steam was shooting into the car and enveloping the strug-gling passengers. It was the first thing that attracted the attention of Human Beings Pinned in and Boiled to thing that attracted the attention of the steward. Taking off his coat, he tore the garment into shreds and with the rags he plugged up the pipe and shut off the steam. Temporary relief was thus given the sufferers. Then, climbing through a broken window, Nichols leaped into the dark car, now Nichols leaped fato the dark car, now filled with the scalding, suffocating steam. The screams of the injured made it confusing where to begin the work of :escue. Picking up the first human form at hand, Nichols carried it out of the car and placed it on the frozen ground. This was repeated until other rescuers had arrived and one after another, bodies were handed out until five had been rescued. At this point the steward was compelled to until five had been rescued. At this point the steward was compelled to leap to the ground, being ebausted and overcome by the heat and steam. Others extered the car and continued the work of rescue. They were soon re-joined by Nichols, who had recovered. For hours the work continued, it being difficult, even with the aid of the wrecking crew, which had reached the scene. ing crew, which had reached the scene. Many of the victims were wedged be-tween heavy timbers and it was 4 e'clock before all the injured had been removed. Following the wreck, thieves were detected robbing the dead and in-jured. tender clear over the prostrate locomotive like a football and before it could stop it was lying on the water level some twenty feet below. Next came the baggage car, which went over the locomotive top and lodged with one end near the water. The smoker of the train was smashed like "dling. The sleepers, still crowding but not breaking, swept along, literally tearing up the steel rails as though they were made of paper. The first sleeper, when it finally stopped, rested directly over the locomotive. The dining car remained safely on the track and the steward and crew were not harmed. When the grinding and crushing of steel and wood ceased there was for the moment a dead silence. Then came the moans and cries of anguish from the poor wretches who were being scalded or burned to death."

When asked if there would be any investigation on the part of the railroad officials. Superintendent D. W. Duer said: "I don't think that an investigation on the part of the railroad is necessary to explain this affair. It is all too apparent." Point s to half a dozen heavy timbers under the wrecked coach, he said: "There is the cause of it. An extra freight westbound has dropped those timbers on the track and proceeded, unconscious of the trouble it had left behind."

HEATH WILL HOLD ON.

DETROIT (Mich.) Dec. 24.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Harry New, who was here today, said that he was not a candidate as secretary for the Republican National Committee, and he understood that Perry S. Heath would continue in the position until the committee dissolved.

tion is now highly probable. The British government, it is understood, has represented to the Czar that Great Britain deems Japan's demands just, and earnestly expects that Russia witigrant them. This representation is supported by the utterances of the British ambassadors here, in Paris and in Vienna, who have informed the respective governments to which they are accredited that Japan will fight fight Russia holds to the position taken in her recent note. The Russian Ambassador has for several days been inquiring freely what the opinions of the diphomatic corps are.

Yuan Shi Kai, the commander-inchief of the Chinese army and navy, has taken steps for the rapid reorganization of the Chinese army. He proposes to create military senools, with special training courses for non-commemmissioned offices, and a cadet corps, a general staff and a military academy, to be opened in 1995. The introduction of universal military service is also planned, as well as an increase of the artillery. He is reported to have advised the court mandarins to wait three years, until the reorganization of the army is complete, before declaring war on Russia.

DULL NEGOTIATIONS. [BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
LONDON, Dec. 24.—Dipiomatic circles in London look for several days of dull Russo-Japanese negotiations.
Meanwhile, a London Times dispatch from Tokio says that the best-informed circles in Japan do not share the pessimism which appears to prevail in London, inasmuca as the resources of diplomacy are by no means exhausted. Ambassador Choate is among those who can nardly conceive how it is possible that some way out of the difficulty cannot be found in order to avoid a war which "must be disastrous to both nations, and the consequences of which upon other nations, cannot be for e.een."

CHICAGO, bec. 24—Judge Holdom recently fined the union $1500, and damage suits are now pending for many times this amount on account of the strike, which is one of the most persistent ever fought in Chicago. If the employers could have secured judgment against the corporation they might have been able to seize the $490 in the union's treasury, or a goodly part of the sum, under the Taft-Yade decision in England, which holds incorporated unions liable for stock damage.

Took Officers, Uniformed and in Plain Clothes, to Get to Cemeteries in Safety-Grand Jury Recommends Special Investigation.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.) CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—Today, for the first time in a week, hearses carried the dead to the cemeteries in and around Chicago. The hearses were driven by non-union drivers, the liv-ery owners abandoning the policy of pleading danger and withholding serv-ice. Although the police were ordered to attend funerals if necessary, and non-union drivers went armed in anticipation of opposition of the union pickets who besieged undertakers' establishments, no disorder occurred.

The services of a union striker who offered to drive the hearse at the fu-neral of Detective Thomas D. Farns-worth were rejected because he re-fused to take off his union button. Po-lice, both in uniform and plain clothen, guarded the hearse. Two detectives accompanied the empty hearse from the stables. Six patrolmen, in uni-form, acted as pallbearers.

With uniformed policemen mounted on hearse and carriages, the body of on hearse and carriages, the body of William Hartmann was taken to Oak-wood Cemetery. The strikers had pick-ets in the neighborhood of the home, but they announced their presence merely for the purpose of seeing that no union men were driving the car-

There was no set programme, and with the exception of the occasional outburst of fun and individual pranks, very little was doing.

Extensive preparations were made on the Consolidated Exchange. This was also elaborately decorated. The Eighth Regiment Band furnished music. Technically there was to be no interruption of the business till the close of the exchange, but there was little business doing on the floor, as compared with the usual days, from the middle of the morning on. Songs and the fattling of pans and beating of improvised gongs broke the comparative silence of the usual din, ever and anon.

The climax of the performance was the "Grand Prize Cakewalk," by champion walkers of Chicago, Jersey City, Washington, New York and other great centers, including Sixth avenue. An immense cake, weighing forty pounds, composed of layers of fruit, raisins and pound cake, all covered with icing, and marked "Consolidated Biock Exchange" in big letters around it, was on exhibition in the gallery of the exchange during the morning. The Observatore Romano, the Vatican organ, contains an article today answering that part of the speech of Count Golouchowski, the Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs, delivered December 16, which referred to the veto of Austria against Cardinal Rampolla, at the last conference. The paper maintains that the veto is not a right, but an abuse, of power, and that no Pontif has ever accepted it. Even the Sacred College sometimes opposed it, but when it did accept it, it was only for the purpose of avoiding worse evils. The article is much commented upon, as it is known to have been inspired by the Pope, who read and corrected the proof sheets.

MYSTERY OF MURDER CLEARS

Man Who Fought With Mack Surrenders Himself.

Alleges Self-defense and Tells Plausible Story.

The Autopsy Physician Attributes Mack's Death to Fall.

Thomas Mack died at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the County Hospital from the effects of injuries received in a fight in a room at the St. Charles Hotel Wednesday afternoon, and his fall, a few minutes after the fight, from the roof of an adjoining building to the street below, a distance of forty feet. He received a fracture of the skull more than tweive inches in length. For nearly twelve hours life in length. For nearly twelve hours life was sustained by stimulants in the hope that the dying man would be able to tell details of the fight. The mystery surrounding the case would, it was thought, be cleared yesterday morning, when a young man who gave the name of Thomas Finch surrendered himself at the Police Stawho gave the name of Thomas Filted surrendered himself at the Police Station and to Detective Steele stated that he had assaulted Mack, claiming he struck him in self-defense. Had he not voluntarily surrendered himself there is hardly a possibility that he would have been suspected, as his appearance is nothing like the description given by Mack during his brief lucid intervals. From the time Mack was picked up in front of the St. Charles Hotel on North Main street there was no chance of his recovery. About 3 o'check yesterday morning he had a sinking spell and from that time he was kept alive by means of stimulants. Yesterday afternoon, after he had been removed to the County Hospital he suddenly collapsed and died before physicians could revive him.

WAS CRIME COMMITTED? The police are by no means certain that a crime was committed or that they will be able to convict Finch. There are no witnesses to the assault, and the statements of the man who gave himself up must be taken as gave himselt up must truth.

He frankly tells a very plausible story and appears to be a young man who has only one thing to conceal, and that is his identity. He gives as a reason for not wishing his real name known that he is a son of respectable parents in the East and if they learned that he was in this kind of trouble it might break his mother's heart. His story has convinced the detectives that he has told the truth. If not the whole truth.

The detectives were trying to get an ante-mortem statement out of Mack at the moment Finch appeared and quietly

Finch's STORY.

Finch said he met Mack Wednesday afternoon in a restaurant. They went to various saloons and became more or less intoxicated. Mack asked Finch to take him to a room and Finch took him to the room in which the fight occurred. Then Mack demanded that Finch get more drinks, but the latter, having only $\frac{1}{2}$, refused. Mack then said he had been robbed of $\frac{1}{2}$ and would get the money back. He finel'y assaulted Finch and the latter in defending himself struck him on the head with a chair. Finch then left the place, locking the door after him to prevent Mack from following. He did not know that he had seriously injured Mack until he read the newspaper ac-

After hearing his story there was nothing for the officers to do but lock him up. He will be held pending such proceedings as may later be instituted. The officers admit there is little nosellibility of convicting him. Other details show that the dead man was one of bestial instincts, which were largely

DECLINE OF GREENE STOCK.

A few years ago the stock of the Green Consolidated Copper Company got up to about $50 a share. The last New York quotation is $14.75. President Greene has started for New York, where he appears to be needed to brace up the reputation of the company. Enormous expenditures have been made in the building of the largest smelting works in the Bouthwest, in the construction of a forty-mile broad-gauge railroad to Cananea and of a twelve-mile narrow-gauge from Cananea into the Cananea Mountains, to the various mines of the corporation. There is little doubt concerning the enormous richness of the company, a richness and capacity that aranow being shown by the heavy builtion output, but extravagance is alleged in the management. Greene has asserted all along that with the new works it operation he could lay copper down out the Atlantic seaboard for 4 cents a pound. At present it is claimed that the company is making a profit of cents a pound. The floating debt is supposed to be about $1,000,000. John A. Farish, probably the most conservative mining expert in the West, lately made examination of the mines and their management and it is believed that upon his report the Lewisohn holdings of stock were sold, about 15,000 shares, further contributing to the dropping element of the dropping DECLINE OF GREENE STOCK.

Before the in any such way as they have or-ganized San Francisco and Chicago. they will have to effect a radical change in public sentiment in this city, which prizes highly the indus-trial freedom which it has won so fairly and has maintained so firmly. It is this wholesome public sentiment which has kept Los Angeles free from the domination of the organized labor boss, and from the terrorism which the thugs and ruffians of organized labor have inspired in other cities. This healthy public sentiment will have to be changed into something the exact reverse of what it is, before organized ruffianism can make ma-terial headway here in its systematic essaults upon personal liberty and constitutional rights.

The methods which organize unionism has pursued in other cities are not calculated to make converts to its cause in this intelligent community, which has enjoyed for so long the benefits of industrial and personal freedom. These excesses have rather had the effect of strengthening in Los Angeles the wholesome plight of San Francisco, of cago, of New York, and of other communities which have submitted themselves to the bondage of union dictation, is a warning which has not been lost upon the people of Los

There is no city in the country which has a brighter future than Los An-pales. All this is true, largely, if not holely, because of the fact that Los Angeles has kept itself free from the blight of labor-union domination. It is this fact which brings to us men with money to invest, and wage-earners who are free, self-respecting, and industrious; who are willing to "live and let live;" who are able and willing to earn an honest living with-out trying to deprive some other workmen of the right to do so.

The people of this community can asily maintain the independence they have won so well. They have only to stand fast by the principles and he policies which they have pursued a the past. The independent workgmen of this community need have fear that they will be deprived of their independence, nor of the right to work, nor of any of the individual rigats so dear to every American These rights will all be protected in the fullest degree, by the law, and rough its just enforcement. Los Angeles will not tolerate the holding

Regarding the great bulk of the hu-Regarding the great bulk of the hu-man family it is safe to say that if it doesn't have a merry Christmas today it is its own fault. Don't worry. En-joy yourselves. Be kind, be generous, remember all the good things that are worth remembering and forget all the other things. It is worth while for the sailer force to unite in making this the entire force to unite in making this the happiest and merriest day in the year, for next year—ah, next year, the light may have died out of the eyes you love, riches may have taken wings, clouds may veil the stars from sight, there may be more things to be sorry for next year than there are to be merry about today; therefore make it a merry—christmas.

A SECOND INQUEST USELESS. Of course, a second inquest by the Coroner's jury in the case of the Choissers shooting would be useless, as members of the jury are quoted as saying. Anybody and everybody (excepting one og two badly-rattled edi-tors) knows that such a proceeding would be utterly useless, and even ridiculous. This is true for the reason that the verdiet of the Coroner's jury has practically nothing to do with the case. It is not evidence before a trial court. The verdict of the jury, one way or another, would not affect the tanding of the case in court, if it were to be brought into a court. The case would then stand or fall on its any finding by the Coroner's jury. Therefore, there is not the slightest reason in the world why the Coroner should make another investigation into the shooting; the badly-rattled edifor of the Express and his doleful doggerel to the contrary notwithstand-

At the time the Coroner's investi now alleged to have come forward with new "evidence" chose to keep slient. Why did they do so? The official inquiry by the Coroner furnissed them an opportunity to tell all they knew about the affair. It was their duty to do so, and if the stories which they are alleged to heave which they are alleged to have been telling since were the truth, they are guilty of serious negligence in not contributing all the testimony they could contribute, in order that the mystery might be cleared up.

The Coroner's verdict as rendered was strictly in accordance with the estimony as it was brought out at the inquest. If any evidence worthy of attention has since been brought forward-which is by no means certain-the courts of justice are the proper place for sifting the evidence and arriving at the exact truth of the matter. This is a question for the District Attorney to decide, and he will doubtless decide it in accordance with the facts as they are made apparent to him after he has completed his investigation.

The statements of the officers concerned in this unfortunate affair bear the appearance of truth, and thus far nothing has been made public, in any official, authoritative or credible manner to shake their testimony in any important particular. The malevolent yawp of the rattled Oxpress is beneath contempt, so obviously is it inspired by personal and evil motives.

If there is really any new evidence of course be brought out; and the courts

UNJUSTIFIABLE ACTION.

The action of the Riverside authorities in causing the confinement of M. V. Donaldson, The Times repnot been lost upon the people of Los angeles.

Taere is no more prosperous city in the United States than this one. There is no city which today offers better opportunities for investment.

There is no city in the country which today offers better opportunities for investment. There is no city in the country which today offers been accused of any crime. His only offense is his refusal to violate. offense is his refusal to violate a sacred confidence, and to break his pledged word by revealing the sources of his information in the matter of the Riverside courthouse scandal. For this the court fined him for contempt and ordered his imprisonment. It was nothing less than an outrage, how-ever, to confine him in filthy quarters and to treat him as a criminal.

The fact appears to be well estab-lished that this outrageous treatment of Mr. Donaldson was at the express order of Judge Noyes. This action of the judge has a malign appearance of the face of it. It is extra-judicial, and wholly inexcusable. It seems incredible that a judge could give such an order unless he were inspired by malice. or by motives which no just judge could entertain for a moment. Much indignation has been aroused in Riverside by the action of the judge and there is ample reason for it.

The fact that Mr. Donaldson was removed to better quarters after Mr. Peck, his attorney, had served mandamus papers upon the Sheriff, and after, it is reported, Judge Noyes had held a conference with the Sheriff and the District Attorney, does ing of non-union men, the destruction of property, nor any other acts of showed malice in his extra-judicial act of ordering Mr. Donaldson to be confined among the hobos and criminals. Sheriff Coburn seems to have shown no desire to be a party to the outrage, but acted under the direction of Judge Noyes.

CHRISTMAS GREETING.

As has been its custom for many a year past, The Times, this morning. wishes its readers, its friends and it? neighbors, a "Merry Christmas." This is His day—the day of Jesus of Nazareth—and it is a day of joy. May it be such in every heart. May peace and blessing sit at your threshold to brighten your way and make the day for you and yours a "Merry Christmas," indeed.

A merry Christmas, Nineteen-three! Rejoice all hearts and happy be; For never since the earth began, Has any figure of a man Achieved such eminence and power As Uncle Sam, this present hour.

A giant 'mong the ruling men Of earth, he stands for Freedom, when And where the human race reside, And none his doctrine has defied: For Freedom stands, nor will he brook In any guise the tyrant's look.

Free lands; free homes; free work; free plast Free thought; free speech; with none to say Ye must do this, ye must obey The mandates of the tyrant's sway. Your Uncle's only rules at hand Are the moral code and th' law's command

And these he will defend with strife, E'en though the battle cost his life. The foreign tyrants know this well; The local agitators tell What they can do, but none prevail-

Beneath his feet they trodden lie, The trophies of his victory-The Loyalist; Secessionist; The Labor King; the Pessimist; The Social Crank; the Money Shark; All conquered, lying dead and stark.

And more than this, he leads us on To golden deeds and e'er 'twere done More wealth, more comfort, art and ease Our people have their hearts to please Than any nation; why not then Salute your Uncle Sam, my men! So let us wave, this Christmas dal.

her presentation of the character convincing.

Allen Davenport, as Pastor Manders, gives a portrayal which riess to the value of a creation. It is a beautiful piece of work, in every detail, whether we consider the perfect make-up, the characteristic bearing, the priestly quality of voice, or what not.

Another strong character portrayal is that of John Ravold as Jacob Engstrand. So convincing is this character depiction that the actor is forgotten in his art, and Engstrand, the carpenter, stands revealed in vivid but repellant realism.

BROADWAY THEATER. As far 's acoustics are concerned there are few theaters anywhere more fortunately constructed than the neat little Morganstern vaudeville hous: at Sixth street and Broadway. Sound carries remarkably there, and does not reproduce in the auditor's ears an unpleasant echo.

There is a male quartette at this playhouse now which would do credit to many a comic opers company. They sing the beautiful "Heidelburg" from "The Prince of Pilsen," with fine effect—much better, in fact, than it was sung by the quartette in the otherwise. BROADWAY THEATER. As far

The Emperor will take his usual walk in the neighborhood of Potsdam tomorrow and will give new 5-mark pieces to wheever he happens to meet. This is quite a feature of Christmas time wherever the Emperor is, but no one knows beforchand the route he will follow.

MASON OPERAHOUSE. "Ghosts" is Ibeenesque. This is equivalent to saying it is—not exactly immoral. That ism't the word. It is roorbid. It is compounded of unclean materials.

An apology is due to the public from the writer of such plays: yet it is difficult to say just what excuse could be offered in apology.

It depends upon the point of view—perhaps. There are those who insist that Ibsem plays are the perfection of dramatic writing; just as there are those who find delight in the common-place literalism of Walt Whitman. Ibsem isn't quite so frank, so uncompromising, so brutally literal, as Whitman; but he is nearly so.

Theen is prurient. He is obvious. He leaves little to the imagination. In point of fact, imagination is a commodity in which he deals sparingly. In romanne, not at all.

One comes away from witnessing an Ibsem play with feelings very much akin to the feelings which one "enjoys" after visiting a dissecting roomer or an insane asylum.

But the play now on at the Mason is well played. The strong, true action redeems the play, in a large measure, and lifts it well up into the real of excellent and rational art.

In the role of Mrs. Alving, Alberta Galiatin evinces a just and adequate conception of the character. Her portrayal is in close consonance with this conception, it is full of detail—of appropriate, timely, intelligent detail. We could wish that Miss Galiatin spoke with a little less prolonged in tonation, at times; yet her enunciation is, on the whole, without marked fault, her inflections usually opposite, and her presentation of the character convening.

Allen Davenport, as Pastor Manders, gives a portrayal which rises to the

The fight occurred near Wilmington and First streets. Reuter had imbibed freely of Christmas cheer in a salcon at the corner, and about noon passed out at the rear door. Taking the wrong passage, he landed in the yard of a residence near by, which was guarded by a large dog. Without warning the infuriated animal sprang at him. Reuter threw up his arm just in time to save his throat, but the animal seized his wrist. The man fell beneath the dog, which continued chawing him until the unfortunate seaman succeeded in making his escaps. Reuter's right arm was bitten nearly half through. Deep gashes were found on his right leg.

SPORTING PAGE. HAS THE CALL IN BETTING.

Young Corbett" a Ten-to-Eight Favorite Right Off.

Knowing Ones Tell Why They Prefer the Champion.

Fitz Saus Jeffries Need Never be Whipped—Race Results.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 24.—[Exclu-sive Dispatch.] The sports began to bet on the Corbett-Hanlon fight last There were no vast fortunes wagered, but enough speculation was done to give an idea what the odds would be. Corbett started off a 10-to-8 favorite, which was not at all astonishing. When the match was made it was expected that he would have the "call" in the betting. Though Hanlon made a draw with him, the average sport who follows the scrappers reasons in this way:

"Corbett has the better punch, and if anything, his headwork is superior. Gorbett is a cunning rooster. Why did he not whip Hanlon when they met not in condition. He was as fat as a prize pig, and but for his generalship would have lost the championship. On the other hand, if he had been in the same condition he was when he beat McGovern, he would have whipped better fight this time than ever before Taking everything into consideration, it makes it a close thing, but the best of it is with Corbett."

And this is why the champion rules "Young Corbett" weighed in today

"Young Corbett" weighed in today in the presence of a large party of sporting writers. The little champion did not quite tip the beam at 133 pounds. He weighed about 122%. Corbett announced that he would do no more boxing until the fight. He only boxed three light rounds with Monte. Attel today. He said that he was sat-isfied with his weight. In regard to the referee, Corbett said: "I want Graney, and will hold out for him, unless they can show me that he is not perfectly straight. These other fellows may be all right, but they've got to 'show' me."

The work of Coroett this morning showed that he is in fine form. He is fast, and looks in trim for a hard bat-tle. He can make the weight without sacrificing any strength.

NO MORE HURDLE RACES.

FEELING AGAINST THEM HIGH. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(Exclusive Dispatch.] It is almost a certainty that metropolitan race-goers have seen the last of hurdle racing on home tracks, for some time at least. Feeling against hurdle racing had its growth with rac-ing associations themselves, and many of these racing under the jurisdiction of the National Hunt and Steeplechase Association have taken races of this character off their programmes en-tirely during the last two years. This action was of their own volition, how-ever, and without either request or at the suggestion of the governing body the suggestion of the governing body of cross-country sport.

The National Steeplechase and Hunt Association has now taken a hand in the matter. At a meeting of the stewards last week, the proceedings of which have just reached the public through the racing calendar, the secretary was ordered to write to all associations racing under the rules of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association that stewards suggest that in future hurdle races be eliminated from programmes and that steeplefrom programmes and that steeple-chases be substituted. FOOTBALL TODAY.

BERKELEY-LOS ANGELES.
The north and the south will clash on the gridiron today at Prager Park when the local High School team lines up against the Berkeley High School idads who won the championship of the north for the present season. The weight of the teams is almost equal.
The Los Angeles High School boys realize they have a hard fight before them, and have trained faithfuily. Their team work is much better than when they played the Riverside boys. New tricks and signals have been added, and the daily practice has marrowed the weak points shown auring their previous contests.

The Berkeley boys have come rowth confident of adding another victory to their already long list. They are esptained by Schaffer and trained to the minute. Berkeley is strong on defense and bucking for large gains.

Each team brings a number of substitutes who will all be ready to go on at a second's notice and no delay will be permitted of any character. Six hundred seats have been taken by the High School boys' friends, and the rooters will be there in force. A number of Berkeley boys who live here are at home for the holidays, and that side of the question will undoubtedly be well represented. In the evening both teams will be entertained by Ellery's Royal Italian Band at Hazard's Pavilion. The High School Mandolin and Banjo Club will assist in the evening's entertainment.

KERN COUNTY FOOTBALL.

KERN COUNTY FOOTBALL

KERN COUNTY FOOTBALL.

The eleven of the Commercial High School of this city left last night for Bakersfield to play a match game today with the High School team of that city. The locals expect to win, for they are in good condition, but they will have a hard battle, for the country boys outweight them. The line-up of the locals will be as follows: Gill, center: Coover, right guard; Bryson, left guard; Bell, right tackle; Fowler, left tackle; Ed Shields, right end; Heisman, left end; Goodwin (captain,) quarterback; Bröcksleper, right half; Bronson, left half; Wickersham, fullback.

COUNTRY CLUB NOTES. e tournament referred to—a double and of 36 holes, with a choice score for.

There has been a large infusion of new blood during the past month, about fifty names having been added to the manufacthin.

Hon. M. L. Graff made No. 2 in one on Saturday last, and his name is now indelibly graven on the grateful heart of his faithful little caddle—not a few members also participating in the joy of the occasion.

MATINEE SCHEDULED. This afternoon the Driving Club will entertain the usual crowd at Agricul-tural Park with its annual Christmas matinée fixture. The card for today is of even higher class than the averis of even higher class than the average, and the club expects to greet all its old-time friends as well as several thousand others, notwithstanding the other attractions which conflict. Some new horses are in town, and the competition promises to be more than close in several of the races. In order to finish in good season, the first event will be called at 1 o'clock.

Dunning, a well-known local attorney Dunning is the plaintiff in the action brought on behalf of himself and oth ers not satisfied with the present man ers not satisfied with the present management of the corporation. He alleges the misappropriation of a certain "guaranty trust fund," and has obtained from Judge Conroy of C. Superior Court an injunction restraining the company from making any disposition of this fund pending the outcome of present action. Testerday notice of this injunction was served upon officers of the company in San Francisco.

According to the plaintiff ...e Minnesota Mutual Life up to 1839 conducted a business on the assessment basis. said today, in talking about the great champion of all heavyweights. No man knows better than Fitzsigmons how to fight, or is a better judge of fighting men. The difference between Fitz and Jeff, that brought the championship to the Californian, was sixty pounds of bone and muscle, not the difference in fighting ability alone. Fits has fought Jeffries twice, each time battering his fists in vain against the giant's rugged frame.

"Jim Jeffries," said Fitz "never knew, until I kept telling him, how great a fighter he is. Maybe he doesn't know now. He is a big, modest fellow.

"Jeff used to think that he had to use a lot of boxing in his fifts, like to ther men, but he doesn't. The more he gets away from that idea the better he will fight.

"Jeff is a man like John L. Sullivan. He can take any amount of beating afid never feel it. Punching him is like punching an iron statue on some-body's front lawn. Nobody can hurthim much with a wallopt He may get dazed a little, but he just shakes it off in a second and comes in ready for more."

The students of the Woodbury Business College gave an entertainment at the college Wednesday evening. The first part of the entertainment consisted of a Christmas-tree programme, which furnished an unusual amount of merriment, after which dancing was enjoyed until 11:20.

Didn't Find a Mark.

Didn't Find a Mark.

Dr. George W. Campbell, who performed the autopsy in the Covina mystery, states that not a mark was found on the body and that none of those persons who had spoken about bruises or fractures could point out one. The chest cavity and stomach were full of water, he says, and there is no doubt in his mind that it was a case of suicide.

Case for Humane Society.

Complaint comes to The Times from several sources in Highland Park of cruel treatment of animals near the Santa Pé crossing. West Avenue 50, where gravel is taken from a bed for street improvement. It is said that light horses and mules are expected to pull loads too large for heavy teams. Residents of the vicinity say the poor brutes are shamefully beatwish. Tuesday several horses and mules were clubbed until they bled and axle grease was afterward applied to the wounds, according to a lady who watched the proceedings.

Luante at Large. Innatic at Large.

Innatic at Large.

The report reached the Sheriff's office yesterday that an old man had been causing a good deal of disquiet at Monrovia the last day or two. He is robust, scantily clad, and carries a club with which he fights imaginary foes. No one knows anything about this stranger beyond the fact that he has been sleeping in the open, and picking up food as he could. Walking along he huris his club in the air and shouts defiance to his enemies, real or supposed. Yesterday this strange character entered several houses without permission, and scared the inmates. Officers went out.

Pedro-street cars, for instance, started bravely from the heart of town, but before they got within a mile of the track they gradually gave up the ghost from lack of juice, and stopped long before the stretch run. A doze: or more cars were lined up a long, dusty distance on the city side of South Park, and the sports had the satisfaction of walking the rest of the way to the grand stand. Many missed the first race, and possibly for this reason got down wrong the balance of the day. Notwithstanding this at least 2500 persons saw the sport and enjoyed it, too, under conditions they never experienced in Los Ageles before. The roomy grand stand is splendid, the stretch run is arranged so that everyone can see the finish, the appointments of the stand and paddock are first class, and there is a notable absence of dust. The betting ring is large and commod! us, the judges are prompt in their decisions, the starts were generally good, and the electrical contrivances for showing the winner and the time of the race are noticeable by their excellence.

The grand stand was more than half full of ladies and their escorts, a large and convolutions of the betting ring and caper crowd filled the betting ring and caper crowd filled the betting ring

Time 1:03%, Erne outgamed Glenrice in the stretch drive and won going away, Jim Hale being third. Grail, who was an equal favorite with Erne at 11 to 5, was not in the money and apparently did not like the going. The time was a time one mile and the winner turned up in Moor at 4 to 1. Canejo was the favorite on account of Redfern having the mount, but the best he could do was second. Lemon might have won with a goodrider who could fave helped her, but young Lewis took her back soon after the start and kept her there untill rounding into the excetch and then tried to do something when it was too late, but managed to run third. Excited men darting hither and thither through the betting ring, the hearse shouts of Luck's votaries "pulling" for their choices as the thoroughbreds awung around the big oval, the clang of electric bells announcing the time to begin and close betting, made a stirring scene under the big grandstand at Ascot Park yesterday. It would have fired the blood of anyone but a wooden man or a terday. It would have fired the blood of anyone but a wooden man or a bookmaker—they are much the same thing so far as outward enthusiasm goes. With the "gentlemen of the block" racing is largely a business proposition, yet they often convey the idea of taking a much deeper interest in the sport as a sport, than they are willing to show. These men, whose fortunes rest upon so precarious a foundation as a boy's judgment, a pebble in the stretch, or an accidental bump near the finish, are schooled by long experience into a sort of sang froid; an imperturability that serves as an effective cloak to whatever interest they take in racing as racing Standing on their boxes, coolly inspecting the run around, making no sign of approval or disgust, and paying out as readily as they took in, one might think they are automatons,

"I want that sack you've got and if you yell I'll kill you," was all the woman said, but that was enough. She did not deign to search her victim, but compelled him to give her the sack containing the money. She knew in which pocket he carried it, and indicated it by pointing her revolver that way. There was nothing for Noble to do but give her his money.

The woman then ordered her victims to return to Alameda arreet and warned him that if he attempted to follow her, he would stop a bullet. He did as she directed and at once hunted up the policeman on that beat, to whom he told his story.

He said his sack had contained 25, about all the money he had. He was unable to give any description whatever of the woman and declared that if he saw her again he was not certain that he would know her. She was either a negress, or had blackened her face. The detectives do not believ that Noble told them the whole truth.

HONOR FOR LOUIS.

of Commander.

Word was received last evening from Sacramento that E. J. Louis of this city has been commissioned by Gov. Pardee as naval aide on his staff, with rank of commander. This appointment is made to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Capt. Randolph H. Miner, who is now stationed at Annapolis. Mr. Louis has been actively connected with the Naval Militia of this State since 1891, having been mustered in with ninety-nine others, and today is the only remaining one of that coterie who has seen continuous service.

Mr. Leuis has passed through various positions, being appointed shipswriter in 1891, paymaster's yeoman in 1895, commissioned mate in 1898 and assistant paymaster in 1901, on the staff of Capt. Thomas A. Nerney, commanding officer of the battalion; was continued in the same position by the now ranking officer, Capt. George W. Bauer, which he held until his advancement by the Governor into his own military family.

The appointment is one that gives satisfaction, as Capt. Louis is known to be sealously interested in the COMMISSION FOR PURCHASE.

Yesterday morning the Park Commission went on record in favor of the purchase by the city of Sycamore Grove. The following resolution presented by Commissioner Stewart was unanimously adopted, Commissioner Lankershim alone being absent:

"Resolved, that it is the sentiment of the Board of Park Commissioners that Sycamore Grove should be secured by the city for a public park. It is ready for immediate use as a park, requiring but little work to put it in good condition. The cost of maintenance would be but small. This grove of sycamores, live caks and other trees cannot be duplicated in Los Angeles without years of effort and much expense.

"Be it further resolved that we recommend to the Honorable City Council to investigate and ascertain if said Sycamore Grove can be purchased for the city at a reasonable price, and, if so, we recommend to the Honorable City Council to take such steps as may be necessary to provide for the purchase of said Sycamore Grove for park purposes."

A communication was received from 8. R. Palmer, Fielding Stilson, M. L. Wicks and Marshall Stimson asking that steps be taken forthwith to improve Elysian Park avenue and Reservoir street. These streets lead to Mysian Park, but are not now improved to an extent that admits of the easy passage of teams. The petitioners asked that the services of the chain gang which is now working in that section be secured to improve these driveways. Superintendent Legrand was charged with making an investigation and reporting to the commission at the next session.

terday, but the results differed. Joe Semons, one of the bidders, has been outspoken in his declarations that the tests were not squarely conducted, we that as it may, the fact remains that the test completed last night gives results quite different from those of former tests.

According to official figures the "Forrester" brick during the first test absorbed 5.178 per cent. of water, and during the second test 7.42 per cent. of water. Unofficial figures last night placed the absorption of the some brick as shown by the third test at 5.29 per cent., or more than the specifications allow.

By the first test the Simons brick from the Boyle Heights yard absorbed 5.85 per cent. of water, and by the test yesterday (unofficial figures) 6.95 per cent.

"C. same man selected some of his samples from the same place in the yard at Inglewood, but that the official tests showed a wide divergence in the absorption qualities of the brick.

City Engineer Stafford says that the tests are really of very little importance as the "Forrester" bid is so worded that the brick must be furnished according to specifications. While it might be possible to select a few samples' from almost any yard that would stand the test, the showing would not be conclusive as to the quality of the brick to be furnished on the contract.

But whether he will be allowed to marry Marie remains an open question. The judge dismissed the charge against the girl, saying that the case was one for a guardian, and that the incorrigibility was not established.

Mrs. McCartney and Miss Stoddart of the Advisory Committee took Marie in charge until some arrangement could be made for caring temporarily for her. She was taken to the Sistera Home, and there she will remain until it is determined what is best to be done. If it turns out that the girl is to years, marriage bells will ring out. Banquet and Initiation

The "From Time to Time Club" held one of its delightful banquets in the Hollenbeck Hotel parlors last evening. The table was decorated with asparagus plumosus and poinsettias. During the dinner the following members were initiated: Mrs. J. G. Atwood of Riverside Miss E. A. Clapp of San Pedro, Miss Dexter of Monrovia, Miss Smythe of Pomona, Miss Wiltshire of Long Beach, Miss Sullivan and Miss Reese of this city. The ceremonies of initiation were appropriate to the peculiar talents of the candidates: Miss Clapp for example, rendered the following numbers on a Steinway plano of six keys, two of which were unfortunately disabled during the performance: "Moonlight Sonata," "Dead March" in "Saul," "Elijah," "Wedding March" find "The Lost Chord." RICH MEN ARE NOT ALL HAPPY.

Crosus, King of Lydia. Had Trou bles of His Own, and There

Crossus, the John D. Recketeller of the kingdom of Lydia, was very well-to-do in worldly goods and chatteds. "As rich as Crossus," is a saying about 200 years eld. He had his troubles, however, and sown of them were full grown. He was taken captive once by Cyrus and orly saved himself from being hurned alive by quoting a saying of folon, the Sage. He finally had to fise his kingdom for parts unknown.

Many of the rich man's troubles today come from high living and could be avoided. They are brought on by esting all kinds of rich, heavy foods at irregular times, lack of proper exercise, undue mental strain, unnatural stimulants, etc., and are commonly known as indigestion, dyapepsia and weak stomach. They are serious troubles all right; but not only can they be avoided but can also be cured, and that without loss of time or proper food and nourishment.

Etuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the certain relief of dyspeptics, rich and poor alike. There is no such thing as sidepping their onward progress now. A great nation has placed its stamp of approval upon their moble work. The thousands and thousands of cures they have effected and the happiness resulting therefrom have made their name a household word throughout the land.

The story of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be told in a word. They actually do the work that the weak and wasted stomach is unable to do, and allow it to recuperate and regrain its strength. They contain all the essential properties that the gastric juice and other digestive fluids do, and they digest the food just as a sound and wall stomach would. They relieve the stormach just as one rusted and refreshed workman relieves the one on duty that is tired and worn, and Nature does her own work of restoration. It is a simple, natural process that a child can understand. You can eat all you want without fear of results. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 16 cents a box. Druggists all know better than to try te get along without them.

Small Particles of Radium as Christmas Presents the Latest Fad of London Society Women.

STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Dec. 18.—There is this to be said for the latest fad of London society women—the giving of small particles of radium as Christmas presents—that none of the recipients can complain of having received a cheap gift. To give radium in this way costs from $10 to $50. the outfit necessary therefor consisting of a "spinthariscope" and a speck of the new metal hardly hig enough to be seen with the naked eye.

Sir William Crookes, the English scinits, invented the "spinthariscope," which is a kind of microscope through which small quantities of the precious attnf can be examined to better advantage. The spinthariscope sold by a London chemist, who has the radium monoply, is about the size of a finger ring case, and has an opening for the eye, something like that in a child's kaleidoscope. By taking the apparatus into a darkened room, and squinting through the eye hole, one can see flashes of constantly varying light shooting in all directions, like miniature fireworks.

shooting in all directions, like minia-ture fireworks.

The idea of making Christmas gifts of radium has proved uncommonly in-fectious, and the run on the chemist's stock has necessitated hasty commu-nication with the firms in Bavaria and Austria who supply most of the ra-dium that reaches this country.

The butcher shop owned by Joseph Schweikert at Lamandq Park was broken into Wednesday night. The thief pried off the lock of the front door of the shop, but investigation by the proprietor upon his return from a state of the little contains and as the price of lumber. The statement that the base rate for the export trade will drop from $14 to $10 means that many saling vessels will drop from $14 to $10 means that many saling vessels will drop from $14 to $10 means that many saling vessels will withdraw from that trade and there will be an excess of tonnage for the coastwise trade. It is a well-known fact that many of the smaller vessels that that many of the smaller vessels to Southern California have not been making money for some time, owing to the low rates paid. Should many large vessels withdraw from the export trade and enter the coastwise business the result would be that the small boats would be put out of commission and perhaps retired permanently as far as the lumber traffic is concerned. At present there is said to be an overproduction of lumber in the horbern mills and as the foreign markets are well stocked it appears that the hope of shippowners for an increase in rates will not be soon realized.

Strong Hopes of Getting Parliamentary Sanction for Twenty-two Million-Dollar Underground Bailroad.

lion-Dollar Underground Railroad.

BIAFF CORRESIONDENCE OF THE THEES, LONDON, Dec. 2.—Pierpont Morgan's plans for setting a slice of the underground rapid-transit business of London before the whole territory is captured by Yerkes are coming on rapidly. Owing to the uncertainty as to the attitude which the Royal Commission on London traffic will adopt on the question of 'tubes,' Mr. Yerkes and his friends have decided not to promote any bills until after the commission's report which is not due until February. The Morgan group, however, is boider. The necessary notices have been served and a parliamentary committee will be again asked to recommend the construction of a line similar to that which it refused to sanction last session. It is known as the City and North Bast Suburban, extending from the heart of the city northeast to Waltham Abbey, and is estimated to cost $22,000,000.

The success of the Progressive party in the late Borough Council elections will materially assist Mr. Morgan in convincing the government that such a scheme is practicable. In the districts through which it is proposed to construct the line, there is now a strong working class element on the various public bodies who are in favor of quick and cheap transit, and it is expected that strong arguments will be made to the committee to sanction the construction of the new line. Aiready arrangements are in progress to get a representative delegation to wait on construction of the new line. Aiready arrangements are in progress to get a representative delegation to wait on the Board of Trade, and other government departments responsible for the control of new railway schemes. It is admitted by many public men that there is no district in London, where railway accommodation of the nature suggested is more required. The existing railways are the leading opponents of the Morgan scheme.

Christmas-tide Exercises Held In Many Last Night.

Songs of Joy on Every Hand, and Presents for All.

"Glory to God in the highest, peace earth and good will to men"—this is from human hearts and voices toung.
This paean of joyousness began in many of the churches last right, and the story of the Advent was retold, the story of interest, from the fact with no loss of interest, from the fact that this sublime narrative has been repeated for nineteen centuries. In many of the cil churches last night the Christmas season was ush-

red in by appropriate exercises for the Sunday-school scholars, and the appliest of days will be celebrated here as never before. There were the beautiful evergreen trees, with their lavish loads of gilt and times, lighted lavish loads of gilt and times, lighted tapers and gifts for the youngstert; and there were the always interesting programmes of Christmas song and Christmas story, Jolly old St. Nicho-las stole out from many a hidden corout from many a hidden cor-night, as he will again today from other corners, and gave to the children that delicious sense of myste-

The Boyle Heights Methodists held their annual Christmas exercises at the church last night, and this morning at 9 o'clock the church will have a Christmas prayer-meeting, conducted by Dr. W. R. Ferguson.

The Sunday-school of the Broadway Christian Church will give a cantata this evening at 8 o'clock, in which a chorus of 150 children will participate.

The Volunteers of America are making their Christmas cheer a very helpful sort, by undertaking to provide shoes and stockings, and suits of underwear for the poor and needy children of the city. Capt. William M. Hughes desires all the needy children twho wish to be remembered in this tmanner to be at the Volunteer headquarters, No. 128 East First street, this morning at 8 o'clock to give in their names; and at 7:30 tonight each child will receive from the Christmas tree an order on one of the stores for the elothing and shoes. In addition to this each child will receive toys, fruits, candy and nuts. The Sunday-school from Trinity, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is aiding in this work of providing for the poor children, and will also participate in the Christmas entertainment this evening.

Bethelehem Institutional Church,

This church has the usual sunday-school exercises and the distribution of gifts.

Means to Me." There will be a fine musical programme, rendered by Miss Nellie Liscomb, Miss McIntyre, Mrs. McMeekin, the Sunshine Quartette and the Lowe family.

The Sunday-school of the First Congregational Church will hold its Christmas exercises tonight in the church auditorium. "The Bird's Christmas Carol" will be given, illustrated by stereopticon views. An offering for the Bethlehem work will be received. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

CATHOLIC SERVICES.

CATHOLIC SERVICES.

As usual, the Catholic churches will make very prominent the services of today. At St. Viblana's Cathedrai a soiemn high mass will commence at 5 a.m., with Very Rev. P. Harnett as celebrant; Rev. D. W. J. Murphy as deacon, and Rev. William Quinian, sub-deacon, with Rev. Joseph Kalser as master of ceremonies. After this mass there will be low masses every half hour until the last mass, which will be a solemn pontifical mass, commencing at 10:30, with Bishop Conaty as celebrant. After the mass the bishop will impart the papal bene iction. At 7:30 this evening there will be solemn pontifical vespers, and Bishop Conaty will preach.

At the Church of Our Lady of Angels, high mass will be celebrated this morning at 5, with Rev. Juan Caballeria as celebrant. He will also preach a shigh mass at 1, with Rev. T. S. Fahey as celebrant. At Sacred Heart Church, the 5 o'clock high mass made for St. Mary's Church and services and fullness of the melody, formed their own most striking criticism upon the simpering style of music that is too often heard. After having sung these two selections they were called back for a third.

The last business to be transacted was the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

Twelfth Mass' will be rendered by the choir and orchestra.

Very Rev. J. S. Glass, C.M., D.D., will be to celebrant at the 5 o'clock sole the celebr ner last night, as he will again today from other corners, and gave to the children that delicious sense of mysterious awe which awaits the yearly arrival of this saint of the juveniles. Immanuel Presbyterian Church began the Christmas festivities early by giving an entertainment for the intermediate and main Sunday-school departments Tuesday evening. This same church will prolong the Advent celebration by giving an entertainment next Tuesday for the primary department and the children from the Orphans' Home on Alpine street. The little people from the primary department will provide a tree with presents for the orphans, and will act as their hosts for the evening. On Sunday evening at Immanuel Church the large chorus choir will render a Christmas cantais.

The Sunday-school of the First Methodist Church, one of he largest schools on the Pactific Coast, will have dis Christmas entertainment tonight. A feature will be the presentation of the theme. (Christ in Art and Literature, by a series of lantern slides. There will be a musical responsive service, in part an imitation of "The Messiah." Yesterday Mrs. H. W. The decorations in all of the churches are elaborate and tasteful. At the Sacred Heart Church, which has been in the hands of the decorators for several menths, the scaffolding has been removed for the services of today, and the beautiful freecoing will be seen for the first time by the congregation. Some of the new furniture will also be placed in the building for today's services. At the 10 o'clock mass in this church Gounod's "Messe Solemzelle" will be rendered with orchestral accompaniment, and Miss Mary L. O'Donoughue will direct the music. The soloists are Miss Merrick, soprano; Miss Osborn, alto; M. J. Pauly, tenor; Anthony Schwam, bass.

HIGHER SALARIES. HIGHER SALARIES.

There was considerable talk, both formally and informally during the sessions of the association looking to the securing of better salaries by teachers. There also have been those who talked of "commercialism." This talk, pro and con, resulted in the adoption of the following resolution, introduced by President S. T. Black of the San Diego Normal School:

"Resolved, That, a committee of seven be appointed by the chair from among the members of the Southern Californa Teachers" Association to consider school revenues and their distribution, having in view a longer school term, (particularly in the rural schools.) and a reasonable increase in teachers' salaries."

The resolution was adopted with enthusiasm but without discussion, and the chair later in the session named the following committee to report next year. He apparently misunderstood the resolution and named cight: S. T. Black, San Diego; Mark Keppel, Los

The six hundred teachers of the city didn't just tell Prof. J. B. Millard, retiring president of the teachers' association, to "go way back and sit down," but they presented him with a magnificent leather-covered chair as a Christmas gift. It is one of the handsomest pieces that can be seen anywhere and cost close to $100.

Prof. J. H. Francis, principal of the Commercial High School, made the presentation address in felicitous fashion, in which he intimated that it took money for a schoolmaster to buy the comforts of life.

"It even takes money," he said, "to pay the men who come here to tell us that we must get away from the spirit of commercialism."

In accepting the gift Mr. Millard's composure almost falled him, but he earnestly tendered his thanks and made out to crack a joke or two. He said:
"I had expressed the hope that lard, retiring president of the teachers'

"I had expressed the hope that nothing unseemiy would be done, and I now regret that I did not say that nothing embarrassing should be done. I trust nothing more will occur to mar the harmony and happiness of the meeting."

BOONE OF BOSTON. Richard K. Boot. of Boston made a delightful talk on "Education as a Process." It was a lecture which might be stated as an aggregation of striking epigrams. "Education is not knowledge," he said, "but a maturing; not where one is, but where he is "The important thing is not where we stand, but whither we go.

"That thing which abides a man comes to regard as important.

"There is both knowledge and culture in education, but that is not education." He who knows and knows not that he knows; he who knows not; and knows not that he knows not that he knows is the way in which the speaker classified individuals.

"The boy must be so educated as to know how to use what he knows. Numbers of high-school boys know more than Abraham Lincoln, but he knew how to use what he knew.

"A successful business man who had no education once said to me: I have a son-in-law who can talk in five languages, but he can't do business in one."

SOLID PROF. HOOSE.

SOLID PROF. HOOSE. Prof. J. H. Hoose of the University of Southern California, Los Angeles of Southern California, Los Angeles, began his lecture on psychology, with a pleasantry. He gave the title of the paper as "Psychology of Nationalizing Foreign Mind; or the Educational Problem of Americanizing Immigrants."

Touching upon an anecdote told by a preceding speaker, of the preacher who said he told all he knew in ten minutes when he undertook to speak without a manuscript, Prof. Hoose said:

without a manuscript.

"I come with a paper not because I know so little, but because I know too much. The largest part of my paper may be in the title, like a small polywog—bigate in the head."

Prof. Hoose, who is regarded as one of the boost broadly educated men in Californa, was listened to with closest attention, as he went into an elaborate analysis of what constitutes nationalized mind, and of the situation in the United States.

analysis of what constitutes hattonalized mind, and of the situation in the United States.

"History" he said, "does not present a nation that is fully nationalized to some central mind and foreign minds."

Around this general statement the major portion of Prof. Hoose's learned paper was constructed. He analysed the occupation and nationality of the people of the United States, saying that statistics show that the total number of immigrants since 1829 amounts to nearly one-third of the total population.

"If these foreigners had been scattered generally and evenly over the States" he said, "among the citisens,

He showed by illustration that it was the child's interpretation, whatever its value, and consequently it was always:

'You know what I mean," he clared, "more by the way I say it than by the words I use."

DR. TOMPKINGS FINAL. The talk of Dr. Oswald Tompkins was scheduled as "Language Arts," but it was just a friendly talk to the assembled teachers. He said, in part: "Teachers have many faults, and one of their greatest faults is their chief virtue—conscientiousness. We take things too seriously. The school is not the only thing that brings people out right. Lincoin had no school; Herbert Spencer was not a college graduate." Speaking of the "moiding" of pupils, Dr. Tompkins got off the following: "Now, a teacher may 'potter around' a great deal, but there is a vast difference between the 'potter' of the potter and the 'potter' of the teacher."

IT ENDED DRY. The talk of Dr. Oswald Tompkins was

Dr. E. T. Pierce, chairman of the Committee on Resolutions read a series of resolutions, embodying thanks to all who had aided in making the sessions and the stay of the visitors in the city merce for courtesies. Others were as follows:

"Resolved, that we recommend a change of the law relative to the time for the election of school trustees, making the time October 1, or as near that time as possible.

"Resolved, that a council of education be formed, consisting of the city and county superintendents of California and the president of this association, as ex-officio members, and that they appoint twelve members—four for one year, four for two years and four for three years."

The object of this council is to act in conjunction with the State Council in securing better school legislation.

"Resolved, that we favor, under certain circumstances, the organization of technical high schools, and recommend a modification of the present law so that high schools may draw State money without carrying courses leading to the State University.

"Resolved, that we commend the high tone of morality that has pervaded this meeting. We hall with satisfaction this movement toward a public recognition of the obligations and opportunities that rightfully belong to the work of guiding and instructing the youth of our land; than which there can be no work more replete with deepest significance to our country.

"Resolved, that we commend the work of the State text-book commission, and State Hoard of Education in what has already been accomplished in their efforts to secure a good series of text-books for the schools of the State, and pledge our hearty cooperation in their continued work of securing other texts."

A resolution was also adopted expressive of regret at the death of J. W. Hinton, ex-superintendent of the schools of Los Angeles county.
